NABS History

Mama Linda Goss of Philadelphia, PA and beloved ancestor Mother Mary Carter Smith of Baltimore, MD are co-founders of the National Association of Black Storytellers, Inc. They conceived the idea in 1982 to increase opportunities for African American storytellers to be heard and to expand opportunities for the rich heritage of the African American Oral Tradition to be shared.

The first “In the Tradition...” Festival of Black Storytelling, held in 1983 at Morgan State University (MSU) in Baltimore, MD was co-sponsored by the MSU Social Science Department and Alpha Zeta Chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc., Linda Jenkins Brown Chapter Basileus. A grant was received from the Maryland Humanities Council, Inc.

In 1984 the second festival was held in Philadelphia, PA where the visionary co-founders responded to the interest on the participants to celebrate and preserve the African and African American Oral Tradition. Thus, the then, Association of Black Storytellers was established.

In 1990 the Association became known as the National Association of Black Storytellers, (NABS). NABS is a not for profit organization that operates under the laws of Maryland and is exempt from federal income taxation under the provisions of the Internal Revenue Service, 501(C)(3) statute.

Mission:

The National Association of Black Storytellers, Inc. (NABS) promotes and perpetuates the art of Black storytelling--an art form which embodies the history, heritage, and culture of African Americans. Black storytellers educate and entertain through the Oral Tradition, which depicts and documents the African-American experience. A nationally organized body with individual, affiliate and organizational memberships, NABS preserves and passes on the folklore, legends, myths, fables and mores of Africans and their descendants and ancestors - “In the Tradition...”

Dear Family and Friends of the National Association of Black Storytellers (NABS), Ring-a-ling-ling! Ring-a-ling-ling! My bells of Hope, Justice, Endurance and Reparations are ringing. WELL, OH WELL, WELL! IT'S STO---RYTELLING TIME!

Peace and Blessings! Karibu!

Welcome to "In The Tradition..." 38th Annual National Black Storytelling Festival and Conference: IN THE FOOTSTEPS OF THE ANCESTORS.

We have endured a rough year in 2020, but yet we have ENDURED. So many young people and elders have become our ancestors this year: Kobe Bryant, Ahmaud Arbery, George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Daniel Prude, Congressman John Lewis, Chadwick Boseman, and so many many more.

We Remember. We Reclaim.
We Recall the Ancestors' names.
On the shoulders of the ancestors we stand.
At this moment because of COVID-19 we can't hold hands.
In the footsteps of the Ancestors we walk.
And using our Storytelling Voices we sing out and talk.

WE REMEMBER THE NABS ANCESTORS: Mother Mary Carter Smith, Big Sister Linda Jenkins Brown, the Butterfly man Brother Blue, Brother Zack E. Hamlett, and so many, many more. We sing their praises.

This year we have witnessed hurricanes, large forest fires, police brutality, racism and COVID-19 causing us to practice social distancing and wear masks. Paraphrasing our great bard Paul Laurence Dunbar, WE HAVE BEEN WEARING MASKS FOR OVER 401 YEARS IN THIS COUNTRY. In spite of EVERYTHING we have been through this year, NABS HAS STOOD FIRM. BECAUSE OF YOU NABS FAMILY, NABS IS. BECAUSE OF YOU NABS FAMILY AND THE GRACE OF GOD, NABS WILL CONTINUE TO BE. From the very bottom of my heart and the depths of my soul I say ASANTE SANA, ASANTE SANA, ASANTE SANA.

ASANTE SANA TO THE NABS FAMILY. ALL OF YOU WHO HAVE WORKED TIREDLESSLY, FINANCIALLY, AND SPIRITUALLY TO KEEP NABS GOING. YOU HAVE WALKED THE WALK AND HAVE TALKED THE TALK AND NABS IS STILL HERE. MY LOVE AND GRATITUDE TO ALL OF YOU IS BOUNDLESS.

In the Service of Love and Storytelling,

Mama Linda Goss

*Greetings
From The President*

On behalf of the Board of Directors of the National Association of Black Storytellers (NABS) Inc., our fifteen affiliates, supporters, sponsors and friends, I welcome you to NABS' 38th Annual and First Virtual "In the Tradition ..." Festival and Conference, In the Footsteps of the Ancestors.

The year 2020 has been quite a year for our World, our Nation and our People. NABS has certainly drawn strength from our ancestors in getting here. Our ancestors survived captivity, enslavement, Jim Crow, segregation, lynching, voter suppression, mass incarceration and racial unrest. Here we are in 2020 and while so much has changed, unfortunately so much has remained the same. Added to the difficulties is the global COVID-19 pandemic that has taken over 200,000 lives in the U.S. alone. Our ancestors taught us by their example how to face extreme hardships. With enduring faith and unwavering strength, we press on following the ancestors' footsteps that show us the way.

As I write this greeting for the 2020 Souvenir Journal in October, the 2020 Presidential election has not taken place, but by the time you read it, the decision will have been made. I pray that all NABS members exercised their Constitutional Right to vote and that the nation is preparing for new leadership and hopefully real change. Ancestor and voting rights pioneer, John Lewis, who left footsteps on the Edmund Pettus Bridge stated, "Some of us gave blood for the right to participate in the democratic process."

Our Co-Founders Ancestor Queen Mother Mary Carter Smith and Mama Linda Goss had a vision 38 years ago to assemble storytellers from all over the country to preserve and perpetuate the Sacred Oral Tradition of Storytelling. The stories of 2020 and how we endured continuing police brutality, stay-at-home orders, social distancing, face masks and attempts to steal an election are stories that must be told and we, the NABS storytellers, have been assigned that sacred task.

We are treading into a new frontier, the world of virtual storytelling. I stand confident that NABS is up to the challenge and that we will take advantage of this new platform to spread the stories of the African American experience world-wide.

I will see you in your Zoom box. Shoes are optional but pants are required.

Thank you for your prayers during my presidency.

*Greetings
From The Festival Director*

Welcome to our "In the Tradition..." 38th Annual National Black Storytelling Festival & Conference! Our first virtual Festival & Conference!!

Our theme, "In The Footsteps Of The Ancestors" is most appropriate this year during a COVID-19 pandemic. But, the "pandemic" our ancestors experienced throughout the generations hasn't changed as much as we think. Not the COVID-19 pandemic. But, the constant pandemic that has been creating hot-spots for decades. Places where our stories must be told now more than ever!

Pandemic is defined as a disease prevalent over a whole country or the world. The following list of names are proof that we need to continue telling our stories to root this disease out...

Rayshard Brooks ('20), Daniel Prude ('20), George Floyd ('20), Breonna Taylor ('20), Atatiana Jefferson ('19), Aura Rosser ('14), Stephon Clark ('18), Botham Jean ('18), Philando Castille ('16), Alton Sterling ('16), Michelle Cusseaux ('15), Freddie Gray ('15), Janisha Fonville ('15), Eric Garner ('14), Akai Gurley ('14), Gabriella Nevarez ('14), Tamir Rice ('14), Michael Brown ('14), Tanisha Anderson ('14) and too many more.

As we gather together, even virtually, let us continue adding footprints to The Footsteps of The Ancestors. Along the way, constantly remembering the struggles they endured, their triumphs, the legacy of perseverance...the stories they left behind!

We have work to do...stories to tell...children to heal...a generation to inspire...each other to uplift and encourage...dreams to come true...lessons to teach and learn...more stories to tell!

Asante sana to all of the committees, affiliates, Board of Directors and members who have spent countless hours, sleepless nights, skills, time and energy to provide the celebration worthy to be a NABS event! We something else, y'all!!

Enjoy this year's Festival & Conference like never before! We have each other to celebrate.

"In The Tradition..." and "In The Footsteps Of The Ancestors!"

Greetings and welcome to the 38th Anniversary

National Black Storytelling Festival and Conference

In honor of our elders and in memory of our ancestors, we greet you in the name of "the Called out Ones," those with unseen hands and outstretched arms who have safely brought us to this place in time.

Thirty-eight years!!An accomplishment in itself, and speaks to our fortitude, our pride, perseverance, our commitment to NABS, its mission and our love for one another. We are grateful to you our devoted and faithful followers who join each year with keenness and zeal for Black Storytelling. We are standing on the shoulders of our ancestors while recognizing the accomplishments of our NABS past and present Board of Directors. This year we are walking "In the Footsteps of Our Ancestors."

ASANTA SANA!! Enjoy time virtually with our NABS Family!!

Peace and Blessings,

Featured Tellers

Nothando Zulu

Nothando Zulu is a Master storyteller and Performance Artist, who has been sharing with audiences since 1976. She shares stories that entertain, educate, motivate and inspire. She has performed in many venues as she draws from an extensive resource of colorful, often funny characters whose antics and follies leave audiences pondering their own life's lessons. She is a Roster artist with COMPAS, Givens and (in the past) Young audiences. She and her husband with the help of their Board of Directors has produced a three-day storytelling festival, "Signifyin' & Testifyin'" since 1991. Nothando is also a wife, mother, grandmother and great-grand mother, community and political activist who believes in the power of stories.

Diane Ferlatte

As a youngster Diane was steeped in the oral tradition. Her early childhood years in Louisiana were spent on her grandparent's porch with the family and neighbors swapping stories, lies, and tales. After moving to California as an adolescent, Diane has fond memories of the annual trek back to Louisiana with her family, where she recalls fishing in the bayou, making hoecake bread, singing, and storytelling. Her raconteur father would invariably lead the way with family news and history. As she grew older, Diane played the piano and sang in church choirs, performed in various stage productions, and became proficient in American Sign Language, all of which contributed to a completely unforeseen career in storytelling.

Diane has wowed audiences across the globe from Graz, Austria, to Auckland, New Zealand. She has toured and performed internationally many times over, including Holland, France, Bermuda, Sweden, Canada, Australia, Singapore, and Malaysia. Diane has visited almost every state in the U.S., including Hawaii and Alaska, to perform at major festivals, theaters, conferences, universities, schools, libraries, senior centers, detention facilities, churches---you name it.

Special Presenters

Esther Culver (Story)

Atlanta, Georgia's Esther Culver ENJOYS telling stories. She also enjoys listening to tellers and feels that the more you learn about the art of telling, the more there is to learn.

There is an eruptive feeling when you've researched and crafted a story or just made a classic your own. There is also a love affair between you, the audience and the story that is magical.

TAHIRA (Musical Selection)

TAHIRA, a full-time performing artist, boldly blurs the lines between storyteller, singer/songwriter and musician. Her multiple talents enable TAHIRA to deliver a unique performance that includes a heapin' of the moving stories, a fistful of soul-stirring vocals, flavored with rhythmic guitar and sprinkled with drumming for good measure.

Denise Chapman Acosta (Dance)

A retired Buffalo Public School speech-language therapist, Denise Chapman-Acosta is a storyteller and longtime member of NABS, Inc. and serves as Co-Director of the Affiliate Program. She is the past Vice President and Co-President of Tradition Keepers: Black Storytellers of WNY and currently serves the organization as Treasurer.

As a former Buffalo Bills cheerleader, current praise dancer, Zumba instructor and djembe drummer with the women's drum ensemble, Daughters of Creative Sound, Denise often incorporates her dancing and drumming passions into her storytelling performances. Denise is the recipient of numerous awards, but her greatest treasures are being a child of God, wife, mother and grandmother. Denise feels very blessed to share her God-given gifts with others.

Gwendolyn Glen (Story)

Gwendolyn Joseph Glenn, holds a B.S degree in Elementary and Special Education from Florida A&M University and a M.S in Special Education from Nazareth College of Rochester. In 2005, she received her Montessori International Diploma. Gwendolyn is a retired educator of 32 years with the RCSD.

Workshops

Workshop A. WHO ARE YOUR PEOPLE AND WHAT IS THEIR STORY?

If you want to go beyond names and dates on your family tree, this workshop is for you. Learn how "flesh out" you family history by using genealogical and historical records to tell your ancestors stories.

Workshop Presenters: Sandra Williams Bush and Sharon Jordan Holley are members of the National Association of Black Storytellers, Inc and the affiliate, Tradition Keepers: Black Storytellers of Western New York. Both are retired from the Buffalo & Erie County Public Library and are members of the Buffalo Genealogical Society of the African Diaspora (BGSAD) and the Afro-American Historical Association of the Niagara Frontier. Sandra has previously presented a webinar and a workshop on Genealogy for NABS. Sharon has previously presented workshops on Family Storytelling for NABS. As BGSAD members, both have presented Genealogy Storyboard Presentations and workshops in the community.

Workshop B. LAMBAN: EXPERIENCING STORYTELLING THROUGH RHYTHM, SONG& DANCE!

Every story specifically folklore (beliefs, culture) has a rhythm (timing, frequency, energy), song (words) and movement, a flow, a sway (dance). Our tradition, our ancestry, where all humankind evolved believed from the beginning to this very day in the oral tradition. That tradition not only revered verbal communication as a source to pass down our history, it also respects rhythm, song and dance. Each song has a meaning. Each dance has a purpose, a direction, and communicates. Each rhythmic sound, i.e. drum, bell, kora, etc. brings a frequency, a current, energy. Together it brings a healing. During this workshop, you will experience storytelling through the rhythm, song and dance of Lamban. Lamban is a traditional West African dance hailing from Mali. It is the dance originally done by the Djeli, the Griot, the Historian, Keepers of the Oral Tradition. However, in its contemporary form has been taught and performed on various platforms.

Workshop Presenters: Mama Cheryl Hinton and Deborah Pierce Fakunle

Mama Cheryl's love of African dance, artistic apparel design and construction experience have blessed her with opportunities to incorporate her higher education profession with her passion for the Arts. Her experiences have allowed her to travel to West and East Africa, South America, the Caribbean and throughout the USA. Mama Cheryl is also an Artist, Storyteller, Author, Fabric Sculptress, Actress and Costumer. She is a member of Wombwork Productions, Inc.

Griot-in-Residence at the National Great Blacks in Wax Museum, Mama Deborah is a Life Member of NABS, and the Griots' Circle of Maryland, and an Instructor-Mentor in the Growing Griots' Literacy Learning Program. A community ARTivist, Mama Deborah co- created and hosted "The Talking Drum" on Maryland Public Television and created Mama Talk (the Afropella Griot and the Dance Griot). As a member of WombWork Productions, Mama Deborah contributes as a board member, costumer, mentor, performer and writer. She is a graduate alumnus of Morgan State University, shares the African Oral Tradition at schools, colleges, hospitals, museums, festivals, conferences, and other community gatherings.

Workshops

Workshop C. LEGACY LECTURE: Sittin' & Tellin' Like Ms. Jackie Torrence

Lecture Description:

Ms. Torrence (1944 – 2004), also known as The Story Lady, was a Master storyteller with an international reputation. She told stories about her childhood growing up in Second Creek, NC; was an exceptional interpreter of Aesop's Fables and Bre'er Rabbit stories; and told Jack Tales of the Appalachian region of the United States. She had a unique way of presenting "jump" stories which end with such a surprising one-word twist that listeners jump with fright and laughter.

Presenter: Beverly Cottman

Beverly Cottman is an interdisciplinary artist creating at the intersections of visual, literary, and performance art. As storyteller "Auntie Beverly" she shares stories, folktales and fables rooted in African and Black American culture and oral traditions. Her creative endeavors, interactive storytelling presentations and workshops explore identity, instill pride, pass on values, evoke self-love, and celebrate culture. She is supported, challenged and inspired by her loving family while maternal ancestors guide her performance work. Ashé

Baba Jamal Koram Harambee Youth Award

Melahni Ibokette

Melahni Ibokette, the daughter of Montye Ibokette is a resident of Columbus, Ohio. She is a junior at Linden-McKinley 7-12 Stem Academy. Melahni plays baritone in the marching band, sings with the middle and high school choir and was a soloist at the 2019 welcoming reception for the Columbus City School's new superintendent. She also performed at the Martin Luther King Jr. 2020 Award Dinner sponsored by the Columbus Education Association.

Melahni has been a member of the Village Watoto Storytellers since 2014 and attended her first conference in Chicago, Illinois. She has performed at the 2016, 2017, 2018 Columbus Arts Festival, National Black Storytellers Festival, Hall of Experience for Campfire G.I.R.L. 2017 Campfire at the National Girls Scouts Conference, Tellebration and Fireside Tales. Mother Ruth Edmonds Hill

Ruth Edmonds Hill is an American scholar, oral historian, oral storytelling editor, journal editor, educator, historic preservation advocate and spouse of the late Dr. Hugh Morgan Hill who is also known as Brother Blue. Ruth Edmonds Hill is sometimes known as Sister Ruth. Her oral history office is part of the Radcliffe Institute for Advanced Study of Harvard University. She is an iconic figure among oral storytellers, particularly in the United States but also abroad, and has advised storytellers' organizations. Ruth Edmonds Hill is the daughter of Florence Edmonds of western Massachusetts, whose life story is chronicled and has been critically analyzed as part of African-American oral history. Hill has degrees from Simmons College and the University of Massachusetts Amherst.

Hill is most widely known among oral history researchers for conducting the Black Women Oral History Project at the Arthur and Elizabeth Schlesinger Library on the History of American Women at the Radcliffe Institute for Advanced Study which has often been cited within related fields of study in journal articles, dissertations, and in panel discussions and has been acclaimed as a pioneering work in its genre. Hill has also made oral history field recordings, including guided interviews, of Cambodians, Chinese Americans and other ethnic and sociolect communities, traveling widely in research as well as conference participation.

After the death of her husband Brother Blue in 2009, Ruth Edmonds Hill hosted Memorial Tributes in the Blue Circle community of artists, ministers and educators formed during his lifetime and from his joint opus with Ruth Edmonds Hill, most recently in 2010.

Martha Ruff

Martha Ruff is known as Sista' Martha to audiences young and old. Her lively performance and resonating voice have captivated listeners as she shares African-American folktales, Caribbean stories, African legends, Biblical parables and modern fables. Since the 1980's Sista' Martha was mentored by the late Mary Carter Smith who was known as America's Mother Griot. Sista' Martha was a featured teller and a workshop presenter at several National Festivals of Black Storytelling. She has been a featured teller at the Griots' Circle of Maryland's Love Stories programs and the Women's History programs. Other venues where she has presented are the National Conference of the NAACP in Kansas City, the Baltimore Washington conference of the United Methodist Women, the Pittsburgh public school system and Stories In The Round in Hagerstown, Maryland.

In the Griot tradition, Sista' Martha shares tales that come from five generations of her Maryland family, two years in West Africa as a Peace Corps volunteer and decades of an extensive career as a storyteller and librarian. For over 10 years, Sista' Martha was the manager of the Sojourner Truth African American collection at a Maryland public library. Also for over 10 years, she was a regular presenter with host Mary Carter Smith on the Griot radio show on Morgan State University's WEAA-FM. She was a participant in the International Storytelling Festival which was held in Ghana, West Africa. Sista' Martha is a founding member and a life member of the Griots' Circle of Maryland and the National Association of Black Storytellers. She has served on the Board of both organizations and is a past president of the Griots' Circle of Maryland. Sista' Martha is a recipient of the Women in the Arts Award from a chapter of the LINKS, Inc. of Maryland and the Linda Jenkins Brown service award which is given by the National Association of Black Storytellers.

Zora Neale Hurston Award

BISMILLAH IR RAHMAN, IR RAHEEM...

Karen "Queen Nur" Abdul-Malik, daughter of Harold and Constance Boelter and the blood lines before, Mother of Coniqua, Nile and Sarai and Grandmother of Sultan, Amir, Nurah, Zaid and Shaafi Muhammad and the bloodlines after, is graced to be steeped in the love of family, culture and Black Storytelling.

Nominated by Mama Linda Goss for the 2020 Zora Neale Hurston Award, Queen's biography delineates work as a Black Storyteller and Folklorist. Queen has made impact with audiences in over 36 states, Canada, Ghana and Cameroon. She was the emcee of the National Endowment for the Arts Heritage Awards Concert in 2019 and will narrate the 2020 forthcoming documentary.

As a teaching artist she has conducted Black Storytelling residencies in her home state of New Jersey, as well as North Carolina and New York. She has been awarded the 2018 NJ Teaching Artist Governor's Award and was named Artist of the Year at Young Audiences of New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania. Her work as a Black storyteller has extended to social justice advocacy, including conducting workshops with Women Against Abuse and youth in juvenile centers. She was granted the Mid-Atlantic-As-Catalyst Award by the Mid-Atlantic Foundation. Queen has been recognized as a community cultural worker, and is featured in Legendary Locals of Willingboro, Josh Bernstein. Special community recognition of her talent and activism has been awarded by Zeta Phi Beta Sorority Omicron Omicron Zeta Chapter with the Z-Hope Award, Unity Community Center Honoree, and a "Mover and Shaker" with the American Women's Heritage Society National Coalition of 100 Black Women.

As a folklorist, Queen is the Director of Perkins Center for the Arts Folklife Center in Moorestown, NJ and has become a contributor and thought leader at national folklorist convenings with the Living Traditions Network. She was the emcee for the 2020 American Folklife Society Annual Meeting and presented in 2019 on a panel honoring the legacy of Mama Linda Goss. Queen has documented food cultural artisans in South Jersey and curated a nationally recognized exhibit, entitled Tastefully South Jersey. Currently, she is hosting the Upon Our Authority Podcast interviewing scholars, historians and storytellers on 100 Years of Women's Empowerment through Oral Expressions and Folk Traditions with special features on Black women suffragist and civil rights leaders.

In her mission to elevate the visibility and empowerment of the Black Storytelling Tradition, her papers and publications include, The Role of Storytelling in Cultural Sustainability: Four Case Models, Goucher College; Adachi in "Supporting Diversity and Inclusion with Story", Ford and Norfolk; Storytellers as Community Cultural Ambassadors in "Engaging Storytelling Through Community", Norfolk and Stenson; Black Storytelling as Cultural Armor, white paper presented at PANAFEST 2015 on behalf of the National Association of Black Storytellers and editing storytelling guides presented by NABS for the U.S. Embassy.

Queen Nur is the 14th Past President and Gold Life Member of the National Association of Black Storytellers, past president of Keepers of the Culture and current Co-Director of the Adopt-A-Teller Program. She is the Founder of the Willingboro Kwanzaa Festival, presenting since 1993 and In FACT, Inc.: Innovative Solutions through Folk Art, Culture and Tradition, a cultural sustainability organization.

FOR LINDA GOSS:
A Tribute To A True Storyteller

With her big 'ol smile
and her eyes that shine
she takes her God given talent and spreads it around

Her words grab you and carry you away
to those far away places where the animals play
before you know it
you've met birds that talk elephants that fly
and frogs that rock

She's got granddaddy stories from waaaaayyyyyy back when that captures the spirit of how things were then

There's one story she tells about a peach cobbler pie
the taste she describes my oh my

You mean you ain't heard?
she's got stories
on top of stories
to quench a thirsty soul

She's got rap stories,
songs stories,
stories about pride
you know
I've seen her turn a cloth into a story one time

With her big 'ol smile
and her eyes that shine
she takes her God given talent and spreads it around

NATIONAL COUNCIL FOR THE TRADITIONAL ARTS

Congratulations to 2020 National Association of Black Storytellers' Zora Neale Hurston Award Recipient, Queen Nur!

Our Mission

The National Council for the Traditional Arts (NCTA) is a non-profit organization dedicated to the presentation and documentation of folk and traditional arts in the United States. Founded in 1933, it is the nation's oldest producing and presenting organization with such a focus. Its programs celebrate and honor deeply rooted cultural expressions - music, dance, crafts, rituals and stories passed on through time in families, communities, tribal, ethnic, regional and occupational groups.

Stressing excellence and traditionality, NCTA presents the nation's very finest artists in festivals, tours, international cultural exchange, workshops, demonstrations and exhibitions, media productions, school programs, and other activities. It works in partnership with communities across America to establish new, sustainable traditional arts events that deliver lasting social, cultural and economic benefits. The NCTA champions the interests of folk and traditional artists and organizations in the arena of public policy.

Our Values

The NCTA is committed to presenting those arts that collectively define us as a people, that represent continuity from the past to the present and into the future. It believes that bringing diverse grassroots artists of the highest caliber to the people of our nation and the world creates powerful, authentic cultural experiences that are transformative, fostering cultural understanding and strengthening civil society. The NCTA's community collaborations are exercises in cultural democracy, and demonstrate the organization's commitment to working at the grassroots level in its many endeavors.
